01 / YOUR REQUIREMENTS

Choose the right space

The right premises begin with a clear operational brief. Consider how the space will be used, how goods and people will move, and what the business may need next.

Production

Review usable floor area, clear height, technical requirements and the relationship between production, storage and access.

Storage and distribution

Review loading arrangements, vehicle circulation, storage configuration and the connections the operation depends on.

Scale

A whole complex may suit a larger operation. An individual unit may suit a more focused need. Confirm formats and availability for the selected project.

Define the use.
Review the specification.
Choose the available format.
